The respondents had exchanged the money through Paul Merchants. The respondent no.1 exchanged Rs.28,410/- into MR and the respondent no.2 had exchanged Rs.28,281/-. The respondents when they reached Kuala Lumpur were asked by Ms. Shradhya, who accompanied the respondents to pay Rs.50/- MR as room rent whereas the accommodation was to be provided free of cost by petitioners. On 27.12.2012, she introduced them to one Mr. Rahul Negi, who took their passport for getting the work permits. They were roaming around the city with their luggage. In the evening they had to stay in a room on the 5th floor with two other guys in the same room. It was very embarrassing for both of them as they had been promised for separate accommodation. On next day in the evening, they were put on work in a courier company in night shift. The respondent no.1 was given a job of data entry operator and other two guys along with respondent no.2 were forced to do labour work, whereas, it was promised by the petitioners that they would give jobs as per their qualifications and experience. Moreover, all facilities like free accommodation, food, medical insurance and overtime which was promised by the petitioners was given to them. Besides all this, the respondents were forced to do labour work on a very cheap salary. When they asked for separate accommodation the agent told that they would have to pay 700 MR for that. In the morning of 28th Dec. when they asked Rajan Verma and Rahul Negi to give back their passports Ms. Shradhya warned them that they can't go back to India and that they would have to work there whatsoever be the conditions or job. Otherwise they would have to pay US Dollars 500 each. Then they lodged a complaint with police. They had spent at least Rs.40,000/- there for accommodation, food, as well as for transportation. The respondents had in all by now had spent Rs.1,40,000/- i.e. amounts paid to the petitioners and Rs.40,000/- they spent during their stay in Malaysia for accommodation, food as well as for transportation. The respondents then made up their mind to come back to India as their condition was humiliating and miserable as their funds were insufficient and food accommodation and transportation were very costly, but petitioner's agents denied to give back their passport so they had to approach the Indian High Commission who issued them emergency certificate dated 3.1.2013 on which they travelled back to Mumbai as the return ticket was of Mumbai. The respondents on returning back to India approached the petitioners to pay back their amount but he tried to make fool of the respondents and delaying the matter on one pretext or the other, but on the other hand, he continued to expand his business by giving advertisements in the HT classified dated 13.4.2013 for staff required. On the wrong and fake commitments of the petitioners, the respondents had to leave their job which they

The act of omission and commission on the part of the petitioners amounts to deficiency in service and unfair trade practice. The petitioners should have put to exemplary cost so that they cannot exploit the conditions of the unemployed youth.

	the weather was foggy, nor there was any natural calamity but on further inquiry they discovered that flight was cancelled due to less passengers booked for the flight on the route from Chandigarh to Delhi. The appellants had denied that flight had been cancelled which was scheduled to start from Chandigarh at 05.30 PM on 29.12.2006 due to less passengers booked. The Airport Authority Chandigarh had issued certificate dated 15.12.2007 which is very relevant in this case. The airport authorities had certified that Indus Airways Private Limited scheduled flight no. 09-103 from Mumbai to Chandigarh was unable to land at Chandigarh airport on 29.12.2006 due to closure of airfield after 2020 hours. They have further certified that Chandigarh airfield normal watch hour is from Dawn to Dusk and initial extension of watch hours was given with the request of above airline. They next stated that due to closure of Chandigarh airfield during the arrival time, Indus Airways Flight 09-103 was diverted to IGI Airport, Delhi. In the ticket annexure C 1 issued in favour of Shri Arvinder Pal the flight number has been mentioned to be 09-202. However, in the certificate issued by Airport Authorities, Chandigarh, flight number has been mentioned to be 09-103. In the complaint of Shri Anil Goyal the flight number has not been mentioned. The affidavit of Mrs Lili Beri, Director, M/s Indus Airways Pvt. Ltd., dated 18.03.2008 duly attested by the Oath Commissioner has been filed. It states that M/s Indus Airways Pvt., Ltd., used to operate one flight daily which originated from Delhi – Chandigarh – Mumbai – Chandigarh – Delhi. It was next stated that flight which originated from Delhi was numbered 09-101 to
--	--	--	--	--	--	--

	Chandigarh and thereafter when it took off from Chandigarh for Mumbai it was known as 09-102 and when it originated from Mumbai back to Chandigarh the flight was known as 09-103 and when it landed at Chandigarh and took off to Delhi it was known as 09-202. It next stated that when complainant had purchased the ticket from Chandigarh to Delhi the flight number was given as 09-202 but the flight which was coming from Mumbai to Chandigarh was given the flight no. 09-103 and since the flight no. 09-103 did not land at Chandigarh. Therefore, flight no. 09-202 from Chandigarh to Delhi did not originate. It is further stated that flight no. 09-202 was to take off from Chandigarh to Delhi at 17.40 hours but the same was delayed and appellant company had paid for the watch hours to the airport authority but due to closer of airfield after 20.20 hours the same was not allowed to land. On 29.12.2006 due to fog at Delhi airport the flight was delayed and thereafter same continued to be delayed even at Mumbai airport due to traffic congestion. There is no dispute about it that in the month of December, fog is heavy as winter session is on its peak. Hence, certificate coupled with the affidavit of MrsLili Beri, Director of M/s Indus Airways, positively proves that there was only one flight which was operated by M/s Indus Airways Pvt., Ltd., and that flight was delayed at Delhi – Mumbai route due to fog and even the appellant (M/s Indus Airways) got the watch hours extended but due to closure of the airfield at 20.20 flight no. 09-103 could not land and was diverted to IGI Airport, Delhi. Hence, it gives lie to the version of complainants that flight was cancelled due to less booked passengers”.

The main grounds for the revision petitions are as follows:

- The State Commission, U T Chandigarh failed to consider the facts that the flight was scheduled to start from Chandigarh at 05.30 P M on 29.12.2006. When the petitioner reached the Domestic Airport Terminal Chandigarh at 04.30 P M on the said date they were informed by the staff of the respondents that the flight had been cancelled but no reason was assigned for the cancellation of flight. Neither the weather was foggy nor there was any natural calamity but on enquiry it was discovered that the flight was cancelled due to less passengers, i.e., only five passengers were booked for 29.12.2006 on the route from Chandigarh to Delhi, as such, due to less of number of passengers the flight has been cancelled, as the same would cause huge losses to the respondents/ company.
- The State Commission, U T Chandigarh erroneously reversed the finding of the District Forum – 1, Chandigarh and failed to appreciate the admitted facts that after receipt of the notice from the District Forum – 1, UT, Chandigarh, the respondents filed written statement and evidence and admitted the contents of the complaint but they submitted that the said flight could not land due to unavailability of watch hours which was beyond the control of OPs. The OPs has not denied the facts that only five passengers were booked from Chandigarh.
- The respondents preferred an appeal against the order of the District Forum 1 dated 27.09.2007. The State Commission allowed the appeal filed by the respondents and dismissed the complaint vide a common order dated 01.04.2008 by holding that the respondents are not at fault, without any regard to the facts and circumstances of the case and that too just on the basis of procured certificate and false affidavit submitted by the respondents by way of additional evidence.

- It is submitted that the respondents procured a certificate as per their/ its own convenience and thereafter the same was produced by the respondents before the State Commission, Chandigarh in appeal along with an application for additional evidence.

- Mrs Lili Beri, Director of the respondent's intentionally, deliberately and knowingly filed a false affidavit by way of additional evidence on the basis of clever manipulation, procured certificate dated 15.12.2007 to cover up their misdeed and mislead the State Commission, Chandigarh and the same was considered as genuine evidence by the State Commission and on the basis of above and false evidence, the State Commission, Chandigarh held that the respondents are not at fault and dismissed the complaint.

We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and have carefully gone through the records of the case. It is an admitted fact that flight no. 09-103 from Mumbai did not land at Chandigarh and therefore, flight no. 09-202 from Delhi to Chandigarh did not originate. This was due to the fact that a single aircraft was to fly on the sector Delhi – Chandigarh – Mumbai – Chandigarh – Delhi and due to weather conditions and the fog which normally occur in northern India during the month of December the flight schedule was disturbed. Since the flight from Mumbai could not land and due to unavailability of watch hour at Chandigarh it was cancelled and diverted directly to Delhi. It is also an admitted fact that the scheduled flight was 05.30 p m and at 04. 30 p m, they were informed by the staff regarding the cancellation of the flight and offered refund.

11. Though the counsel for the petitioner has argued that the flight was cancelled not due to weather conditions but on account of only five passengers who were found to be travelling from Chandigarh, counsel for the petitioner could not show or file any documents in support of her claim. She could also not file any document to support her argument that the weather conditions were not foggy. Airlines have to take decisions regarding flight schedules in the interest of passenger safety. These decisions have to be taken as per the weather conditions and the facilities available at the airports for night landing. At the Chandigarh airport the available watch hour were from dawn to dusk.

12. Thus, in view of the facts stated above no jurisdictional or legal error has been shown to us to call for interference in the exercise of powers under Section 21 (b) of Act. Since, the State Commission have given a detailed and well-reasoned order which does not call for any interference nor does it suffer from any infirmity or erroneous exercise of jurisdiction or material irregularity. Thus, present revision petitions are hereby, dismissed. Parties shall bear their own costs.
